It has been a year since Kyle met with Dr. John Wagner of the University of Minnesota about the new experimental treatment for EB.

IN ONE CORNER:....
ABOUT KYLE HICKS

Kyle was accepted into the clinical trials program and Dr. Wagner estimated the cost for the bone marrow transplant to be from $500,000 - $700,000.

While awaiting approval from Kyle's insurance companies for the treatment, his family decided to enlist the help of the Children's Organ Transplant Association (COTA) to raise money for incidentals that would not be covered by insurance.

When Kyle's insurance companies denied coverage of the experimental procedure, the COTA goal amount was raised to $500,000 to help fund the treatment.

The hospital indicated they could start the procedure with an 80% deposit when a cost was more closely estimated.

The insurance companies said they would again consider coverage of Kyle's treatment when the clinical trial results had been peer reviewed and published.

A 6th child has now received the experimental treatment and the clinical trial results from the first patient are in the peer review phase.

So the family continues to wait for the results to be published with hope for renewed insurance possibilities and Team Kyle continues to raise funds for Kyle's treatment.

Kyle now has $330,000 in his COTA fund.

Kyle and his family are so very grateful to those who have contributed to his transplant fund and to Team Kyle for working so hard on his behalf. Kyle is 18 now and a high school senior.

He continues to hope and work toward his dream of a longer, pain-free life.

Your help can make Kyle's miracle happen.

Thank you for caring about him and sharing your time and resources with him.

The family of Kyle Hicks

Born on January 8, 1991, Kyle was diagnosed with Epidermolysis Bullosa, and doctors at University of Minnesota Hospital - Fairview in Minneapolis, Minnesota, recommended a life-saving bone marrow transplant.

ABOUT Tommy "The Duke" Morrison Children's Foundation

I have experienced enough up and downs in my life to fill ten lifetimes.

Through all my experience, I have learned that no matter what punches life throws at you, you must rise up and get on your feet again.

With that lesson, I continue fighting today; the main difference is that instead of in a boxing ring – it is in the ring of life.

My focus NOW in life is to train adults and children to achieve their dreams... to spring back into action...not wallow in defeat...to get back into the ring of life.

Finding Faith outside the ropes, is helping me do some "knock-out" things for those less fortunate than you and I.

I have created the Tommy "The Duke" Morrison Children's Foundation, allowing local organizations and supporters from around the world to partner with me, to truly make a difference in the lives of All Children and those who have serious and life threatening illnesses. The Duke

2007-08

This poem was written by Kyle Hicks while in the 6th grade in 2004.
What was a dream then can now become his miracle.

Kyle
Small in frame
Eyelashes to kill for
Patient and respectful
Full of responsibility and determination
Who loves making people laugh
And Everybody Loves Raymond
Everything chocolate
Who fear death, hell, and bad people
Who wishes for new skin, a new body and
Freedom in a world of happiness
Who loves to create Easy Mac and Cheese
Good art and Grades
I wonder if they will find a cure
Why peace doesn't always exist
God and His plan
Who dreams of flying to far away places
Healing the sick
Gaining weight
Who remembers being carried
And walking free
Far too many recoveries
Disneyland
I believe in acceptance for all
A loving God who looks after all
And one I will get to meet
Hicks
